

Sharing your health and social care records using JUYI Gloucestershire's Shared Care Record System

JUYI is a secure online system for sharing information in Gloucestershire, giving local health and social care professionals directly involved in your care instant access to your health and social care records.

If you require treatment in another NHS healthcare setting such as an Emergency Department or Minor Injury Unit, those treating you would be better able to give you appropriate care if the most up-to-date information about you were available to them. This information can now be shared electronically, with your permission via JUYI.

The information will be used only by authorised health and social care professionals directly involved in your care. Your permission will be asked before the information is accessed, unless the clinician is unable to ask you and there is a clinical reason for access. These records will be used only for the purpose of enabling informed care to be supplied directly to you as an individual.

Parents, guardians or someone with power of attorney can ask for people in their care to be opted out, but ultimately it is the GP's decision whether to share information, or not, because of their duty of care.

If you are caring for someone and feel that they are able to understand, then you should make the information about JUYI available to them.

Please ask a member of the GP practice staff for details of where to find more information about JUYI or go to the website: www.juyigloucestershire.org

Are you happy for us to share this electronic information with clinicians in other NHS organisations and Gloucestershire County Council social care who are involved in your care? If you would rather we didn't, an entry will be put on your record which will prevent your information from being shared.

You can change your mind at any time but you will need to speak to your GP practice.

Please select ONE option in the table below, complete the patient details and return to your GP practice.
